RAM

Improving Reading and Math Skills through the Arts

Overview of the RAM Project

The new education federal law, "No Child Left Behind," has inspired the Fine Arts community to find ways to teach the Arts, raise students' Reading/Writing and Math scores by integrating the arts, and improving the social and emotional well-being of all students. This vision of better Arts instruction that is integrated into Reading/Writing and Math led to the creation of the project "RAM" (Reading/Writing, Arts and Math). This project proposes to use the Arts (Dance, Music, Theatre, and the Visual Arts) as a means of enhancing and increasing CRT scores in Reading/Writing and Math.